Christmas on Exmoor

A relaxing Christmas break, away from the hustle and bustle...

24th December - 27th December

Christmas on Exmoor

Christmas Eve

Check in at The Bath Hotel, Lynmouth, Exmoor and your Christmas break begins! Why not sample a drop of mulled wine or our infamous mulled cider, by the fire, while you enjoy a meal at The Ancient Mariner? Or head out to one of the other eateries in our beautiful town. Booking is essential at The Ancient Mariner, contact other establishments direct for more information.

Christmas Day

A sleepy start to your day begins as you amble down for a Bucks Fizz breakfast; we recommend a lighter breakfast this morning as we know what's coming next! Christmas lunch is served with all the trimmings in our stunning Victorian restaurant room, or the cosy Galley. After lunch, why not take in the sea air with a walk along the sea front? There'll be light bites menu available later in the evening if you can fit anything else in!

Boxing Day

Feeling strong? After breakfast, limber up with a few stretches and get ready for the annual Tug -Of-War competition outside The Ancient Mariner! This hotly contested village tradition is well loved and supported - pick a side and cheer them to victory! If that's all sounding a bit too energetic, head up to Lynton for a peaceful stroll around The Valley of the Rocks and see if you can spot our local herd of wild goats clinging to the shale. Or take a car and head up to the moors and see if you can spot the Exmoor ponies.

Check out on the 27th after another hearty breakfast, well rested and relaxed and safe in the knowledge that there's no washing up to do!
